Political platforms generally view something or other with "regret" or "alarm" but some of them ought to "view with remorse" certain things they stand for.

Senator Platt's matrimonial troubles contained no lesson for Uncle Henry L. Gray, of Wichita, Kans. At the age of 94 he has just married his fourth wife, aged 65 years.

A Paris newspaper inquires: "What has become of Count Boni de Castellane?" We've got our suspicion that if you find a place in the ground resembling a hole that has been entered and pulled in after its occupant, Boni will be found at the bottom of it.

Says a Chicago paper: "A sensation was created the other night because a prominent man was married down town at 2 A. M." Prominent? What's that got to do with it? A prominent man is just as liable to get into trouble as any other man who hangs out down town till that hour of the morning.

It is stated that the archaeologists are finding some rare ancient crockery in the ruins of Herculaneum, which was covered up centeuries ago by an eruption of Vesuvius. We assert, however, without the least apprehension of inviting a dispute that Time has totally effaced all trace of the family jars of the Herculaneum smart-set.

Economists now declare that the rise in prices is caused by depreciation of gold as a consequence of an excess of production from the gold mines of the world. That theory, however, is knocked into a cocked hat by the fact that there is really a scarcity of money, in spite of all the production of gold, and that there is really such a scramble for money in financial centers the banking institutions are unable to meet the demand. On top of that here comes the emergency currency scheme which Congress is asked to pass. A scarcity of money ought to make prices fall.

Many toasts were proposed and drank to the health of Mr. and Mrs. Linder during the evening, the notable ones being by Rev. C. W. Kegley, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church and Justice George W. Borneman.

Mr. and Mrs. Linder have every reason to feel proud of their silver wedding anniversary and the excellent manner in which it was celebrated last night. The Star joins in hoping that in the course of years it may have the pleasure of at that time congratulating them upon the anniversary of their golden wedding.

CHASE AFTER THIEF.

Exciting Affair at Front and Princess Last Night.

Citizens to the number of more than a hundred joined in a hot chase after a negro burglar, who was discovered in the act of breaking into the gents' furnishing store of Mr. Julius P. Taylor, on Princess street, early last night The negro had gone into the entrance of the Smith building and in the rear of the staircase, which obstructs the view from the street, he had removed a transom and let himself down into the store. He had no time to make off with anything before Mr. John Poole, who was in the cigar store of Messrs. Middleton & Oldham adjoining, discovered that some one was entering the store and made outcry. The negro ran out to the front door, let himself out by the night latch and fled down the street, two or three in pursuit. As the negro ran down to Front and Princess and turned the corner at A. Shrier's store, some one shouted "Stop, Thief!" and the pursuing party was augmented by everybody in earshot, including a large number from the pool room of Gerken's cigar store in the Purcell building. The negro crossed the street and ran down the Masonic alley, the crowd running to every approach to the block and hemming him in completely. The negro, however, had the speed of Russell Foster's automobile and outdistanced his pursuers, running down Water street to the steamer Compton's wharf, where he jumped bodily into the river, the crowd soon lining the water front. The negro clung to the wharf's edge at the peril of drowning and refused to come or be pulled out. Sam King and John Poole, however, threatened to push a cord of wood over on him and at this he allowed himself to be caught and dragged out where he was turned over to Officers M. A. Jones and W. M. Harris. He proved to be Peter Jones, alias "Boodler," who had been employed as a package boy in the store by Mr. Taylor. Nothing was missing last night, but Mr. Taylor is of the opinion that the negro had confederates and had been in the store before. He will be given a trial before the Mayor at noon today.

JUDGE O. P. MEARES

Distinguished Wilmington Citizen and Jurist Passed Away Late Yesterday Afternoon

HAD BEEN ILL FOR MONTHS

Native of This City and For Many Years on Criminal Court Bench—Fearless Soldier and Officer in Confederate Army.

Judge Oliver Pendleton Meares, one of Wilmington's foremost and most distinguished citizens, passed away at his home No. 326 South Third street in this city, at twenty minutes after five o'clock yesterday afternoon, surrounded by all members of his family for whom it was possible to arrive before his death. Judge Meares had been a great sufferer with heart trouble for some time and for the past six months had been practically an invalid. The end came not unexpectedly for the past two days his life had been hanging, as it were, in the balance and the summons was awaited at any moment. Judge Meares was the best type of the old Southern gentleman, courtly in his bearing, of fine intellect, positive yet deferential in his opinions and a man of the highest sense of honor. His presence in the community will be missed.

Judge Meares was born in this city February 24th 1828 and was, therefore, in the 79th year of his age. He was the sixth son of William B. Meares and Catherine G. Davis, his father being distinguished in his day as an advocate at the bar, planter and statesman. His mother was a daughter of General Thomas Davis, an officer in the war of 1812 and prominent in this part of the State as a lawyer and as a leader of men. Judge Meares' early environment was one of culture, education and refinement, characteristics which marked his after life so strikingly. He received his early education at Bingham's School and at Caldwell Institute, N. C., graduating from the University of his State in the class of 1848 at the age of twenty years. He began the study of law unuder Judge Battle at the University Law School and remained under that instruction for one year. In 1850 he was licensed to practice his profession in the courts of the State and the United States, entering upon a brilliant career which was interrupted only by the call to arms in 1861. In his early professional life he was appointed Clerk and Master in Equity in New Hanover county, an office of more than ordinary importance under the old system of practice and pleading in the courts, the duties of which under the new system have been divided between the Clerk and the Judge of the Superior Court. He served in this capacity for several years. He rose to the eminence of leader of his bar before the war. As old-time Whig, a man of strong convictions, he was actively engaged as a public speaker in the campaigns of 1852, 1856 and 1860. He was an electoral candidate on the Filmore ticket in 1856 and his speeches in this campaign were vigorous and marked by great political learning.

Upon the election of Lincoln as president of the Union, he became a secessionist and joined the army of the Southern Confederacy as captain of the Wilmington Rifle Guards, afterwards known as Company I and assigned to the Eigtheenth North Carolina Regiment of Infantry. The companies first composing this regiment rendezvoused at Camp Wyatt, near Carolina Beach, and on July 1st, 1861, organized by electing its field officers. Major James D. Ratcliffe was elected colonel and Captain Oliver P. Meares was elected lieutenant colonel. He served with this regiment until its reorganization in 1862, in and about Newbern, Fort Fisher and Kinston, N. C. He was afterwards attached to the Sixty-First regiment which was assigned to General Clingman's brigade and saw active service in battles of Cold Harbor and Drewry's Bluff. The regiment as a part of Clingman's brigade and the brigade, as a part of Hoke's division, was in active service during the war until after the battle of Bentonville and the surrender of General Johnson to General Sherman. It was mustered out on April 26th 1865. Mr. Meares followed his regiment through all these years of trial and his gallantry and courage were marked.

During the war the family of Judge Meares removed to Fayetteville but returned to Wilmington after the conflict and Judge Meares resumed the practice of his profession, winning a great reputation as an advocate and as a master of the law. In 1867 the

AFTERNOON WEDDING

Miss Katherine Elina Walsh Attractive Young Bride of Mr. David Clarence Marshall—Pretty Service in Grace M. E. Church

A marriage of much interest to a large number of friends in this city and elsewhere was that of Miss Katherine Elina Walsh, an attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Walsh, of this city and Mr. David Clarence Marshall, also of Wilmington, a popular young electrician of the Atlantic Coast Line. The ceremony was performed yesterday afternoon at half after five o'clock in Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, the interior of which was handsomely decorated with palms ferns and flowers, the large auditorium being crowded with admiring relatives and friends of the young people to the marriage vow. Rev. N. M. Watson, pastor of the congregation, officiated and the service is described by those who witnessed it as one of the prettiest ever celebrated in the church.

Promptly at the appointed hour Mrs. M. L. Chasten, the organist heralded the approach of the wedding party with the strains of the ever popular bridal chorus from Lohengrin. First came the four little ribbon girls, little Misses Margaret Kelly Moore, Katherine Marie Bonitz, Dorothy Meier and Master William Burbank Penny. Then the ushers, Messrs. William A. Whitney, William Muse, William Branch and Charles Horton Walsh, the latter a brother of the bride. Miss Harriet Virginia Walsh made a very pretty flower girl. The bride's sister, Miss May Green Walsh was maid of honor and followed the other attendants immediately preceding the bride, who entered on the arm of her father, Mr. P. H. Walsh. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Burgess Marshall, of Little Rock, Ark., who entered from the vestry room. When the bride and groom had taken their stations at the altar, the solemn words that made them man and wife were spoken in very impressive manner by Rev. N. M. Watson.

The bride wore a love creation of pearl grey crepe with hat and gloves to match. She carried a pretty bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor was becomingly gowned in light blue silk poplin and carried an armful of white chrysanthemums. The male attendants wore the conventional black with boutonnieres of roses.

Immediately the last words of the service were spoken at the altar the party left the church in reverse order from the entrance, repairing to the station of the A. C. L, whence Mr. and Mrs. Marshall took their departure amid a shower of rice and good wishes for an extensive bridal tour through Georgia and Florida. Returning to the city they will be at home after December first at No. 808 Princes street.

The wedding party was elaborately entertained at a reception Tuesday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Walsh, No. 713 Princess street. Among the guests from out of the city here for the wedding, were Mr. Burgess Marshall, of Little Rock; Mrs. Charles Silber, of Cincinnati, O., and Mrs. James Elliott Cosby, of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are among the most popular young people of the city. The bride is much admired wherever she is known for her many charms of person and manner and there are many who will be delighted to know that she will remain in the city. The groom is a son of Rev. and Mrs. John Marshall, of Wilmington, and has a responsible position with the Atlantic Coast Line. He has many friends who will congratulate him upon the happy event in his life.

MR. FOUNTAIN APPOINTED.

Will be Inspector of Transportation For Coast Line System.

A circular just issued from the office of Mr. E. Borden, General Superintendent of Transportation of the Atlantic Coast Line, and countersigned by General Manager W. N. Royall, announces the appointment of Mr. J. A. Fountain as inspector of transportation for the entire system, reporting to Mr. Borden. Mr. Fountain has been doing special duty some months from the office of General Manager Royall's office. The appointment is effective at once and Mr. Fountain is now in Florida looking after the heavy shipments of oranges.

Funeral of Mrs. Green.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Green, whose sad death occurred Tuesday night, will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from St. Thomas' Pro-Cathedral. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

COMMERCE CHAMBER

Numbers of Important Business Matters Considered at Meeting Yesterday Morning

RAILROAD MEN PRESENT

Complaint of Congestion of Freights—Truck Fair in Wilmington Endorsed—Inland Water Way Association—Coast Artillery Bill.

A well attended meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday morning at which a number of matters of commercial importance were considered, chief of which was perhaps the congestion of freights in the local yards, a mention of which was made in these columns a few days ago. President Taylor presided and Supt. A. W. Anderson of the Coast Line, General Agent Connell of the Seaboard and other railroad men were present to present their views of the situation and to outline to the business men certain changes of methods that are proposed to be inaugurated that they think will result in more astisfactory traffic. The matters were talked over informally and the railroad people and members of the Chamber arrived at a better understanding of conditions that it is believed will result in a relief of the situation.

Aside from the congestion of freights the railroad people also heard complaints as to delayed settlement of claims in that department of the service. Many of the merchants gave personal experiences of having to wait more than a year for the adjutment of perfectly legitimate claims that were formerly handled at the Wilmington headquarters in three days. Mr. P. R. Albright, assistant to General Manager Royal from whom a letter was read, was present and spoke of the general situation.

The matter of the meeting of the Inland Waterway Association in this city next Tuesday was called to the attention of the Chamber and arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the guests upon that occasion. Mr. James H. Chadbourn, president of the Association, spoke with reference to the importance of the work and asked a full meeting of the Chamber with the Association Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. A committee will be named to have in charge the entertainment of the visitors on this occasion.

A bill before Congress to reorganize and increase the artillery force of the United States, which was printed in these columns some time ago, with comments thereupon, by a correspondent, was endorsed by the Chamber and a copy of the resolutions forwarded to North Carolina's representatives in Congress with the request that they support the measure.

A very cordial invitation was read for the Chamber to visit Fort Caswell and this will probably be done while the members of the Inland Waterway Association are here.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, Mr. Hugh McRae and others spoke of the desired co-operation in the agricultural and fruit fair to be given here next Spring. The Legislature will be asked to supplement an appropriation for this purpose.

The Chamber endorsed a movement in the State to get the forthcoming Legislature to repeal the Homestead law.

The President was asked to appoint a committee to confer with the veterans of Fort Fisher in regard to the proposed re-union of the Blue and Gray on the grounds of the memorable engagement next January.

President Taylor said that the city would very probably have a visit next week from the Second Torpedo Boat Flotilla. The Chamber of Commerce on that occasion will probably receive the officers of the fleet in some formal way.

The Peary Arctic steamer Roosevelt sailed at 6 o'clock last night from St. George's Bay, New Foundland for Port au Basque, where she will coal and proceed to Sydney, N. S. The Roosevelt with the exploring party on board, arrived at St. George's Bay Saturday short of fuel. The vessel took on eight tons of coal, all she could obtain, but not sufficient to carry her across the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Since loading the Roosevelt has awaited favorable weather to proceed.

—William J. Bellamy, Esq., leaves this morning for Kenansville Superior Court.

GENERAL USE OF WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

The general use of the wireless telegraph for commercial purposes throughout the country as well as for maritime purposes as at present utilized now promises to be set on foot. For some time there has been a warm fight between the company exploiting the Marconi wireless telegraph system on the one hand, and the company backing the system of Inventor DeForrest. There has been sharp rivalry between the stocks of the two companies on the New York stock exchange, but the fight was brought to a peaceful end Saturday, when the American and foreign systems were merged under the name of the United Wireless Telegraph Company.

The consolidated concern, it was announced, has a capital stock of $22,000,000; 1,000,000 shares of preferred participating stock, and 1,000,000 of common. Abraham White is president of the merger; E. F. Buchannan, of A. O. Brown & Co., vice president; George O. C. Knabe, treasurer, and Arthur English secretary.

All the time the rival concerns were working, it was understood in Wall street that one of them had a better sending machine than the other, but did not receive so well, which was the cause of half the bitterness. Now that they are together, the best points of both the Marconi and the DeForrest are to be merged along with the stock.

It is understood that the merger means that the best inventions of the two inventors will be used and business stations will be established in the United States and other countries of the world. Mr. Abraham White, president of the consolidated company, announces that the purpose of the consolidation is to establish wireless stations as rapidly as possible so as to cheapen wireless communication between cities as well as between the land and ships at sea. It is stated that the new company proposes to establish charges 20 per cent cheaper than those sent by the overland wires of the Western Union Telegraph Co., and will compete with all telegraph and telephone companies in the service of newspaper, commercial and personal messages. So sanguine are the wireless people, that while they do not expect to immediately exclude the wire telegraph and telephone, ultimately the wireless system will usurp the place of both. It is expected that the comparative cheapness of installing the wireless service will make it easy for the consolidated company eventually to underbid all the old systems of commiuncation by wire, and the claim is that the wireless system will possess the advantage that it will insure more rapid communication by land as well as at sea. President White declares that in communicating with shops at sea and with balloons in the air his company will have an undisputed field. President White announces: "The United Company is now installing a continuous wire system from Denver to Kansas City, a distance of 600 miles, and it is planned to effect instantaneous communication from the Pacific coast to China within the near future."

While all this preparation is being made to make commercial use of wireless telegraph, it is interesting to note that the nations of the world have been getting together on a system to better their boon to the world's shipping. The Baltimore Sun says of the recent conference between the representatives of the nations:

"The results reached by the recent conference at Berlin on wireless telegraphy promise well for a world wide extension of the use of this new method of communication. At the next meeting of the conference at London in 1911, a still longer step will be taken, it is believed, toward broadening the employment of wireless messages. There was some effort made, it appears, to obtain for all nations the equal use of facilities created by a few at big expense for their own shipping. This was but natural, and it was but natural that powers which possessed advantages should wish to retain them. The most important provision of the agreement signed by the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Austria, Germany, Belgium, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, Mexico, Morocco, Norway, Holland, Portugal, Roumania, Bulgaria, Russia, Sweden, Turkey, Persia, Japan, Italy and Spain, is to the effect that these powers will arrange for wireless communications between their coast stations and vessels of all nationalities. Some of the powers reserved the right to exempt certain stations from liability to be "called up," the list including Italy, Japan, Spain, the United Kingdom, France, Portugal and certain others. These powers, however, agreed to provide alternative "open" stations. The United States failed to carry its contention that all coast stations should be "open" and that all ships provided with wireless apparatus should receive and transmit messages, but secured for its proposal the adhesion of the powers other than Italy, Mexico, Persia, Japan, and the United Kingdom. It was objected that the obligation proposed was too burdensome to be imposed upon shipping in general, including private yachts. British ships have always in the past answered signals of distres and have willingly reported ships in trouble, and will doubtless continue to do so, but they were unwiling to be subjected to indefinite obligations. All the powers agreed to give priority to messages of distress from ships at sea and to replies to such messages. It was also agreed that each government should see to it that all wireless stations, private or public, shall be constructed by wire with the general telegraph systems. An international bureau will collect and publish information in regard to wireless telegraphy and consider proposed improvements in its application. Upon the whole, the results of the conference illustrates the progress of the movement for uniting all the nations in enterprises for the common benefit."

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Mr. Hearst's Independence League must view with alarm the excessive use of money in political campaigns.—New York Sun.

—Commander Peary is to make another trial for the pole. A few more trials, and Peary may get a verdict.—Washington Herald.

—Formerly the Kansas farmer was known by his hickory shirt. He is now recognized by the honk of his auto car.—Louisville Courier-Journal

—Armour's denial that he slapped the Kaiser on the back shows he realizes that such familiar flippancy is no way to boom ham.—Philadelphia Ledger.

—This thing of "race prejudice" is perculiar. It is likely to break out anywhere and against anybody. In the South we insist upon and have separate schools for the negro, and the white. In California they insist upon and have separate schools for the Japanese and whites. And yet in spite of the multiplied evidence there are still persons that remain sublimely ignorant of the fact that "race prejudice" however lamentable or unjust, is nevertheless a fact and must be reckoned with in any consideration of the various conflicting problems that the association of different races in the South or in the West entails.—Columbia State.

—The redshirt movement of 1876 is something the white people of South Carolina should never forget. Its necessity, as well as the glory of its success should ever be remembered, so as to prevent need of another such movement. With that necessity clearly in the memories of the white people, there will never need to be a second redemption of South Carolina such as was necessary in North Carolina. The presence in Columbia to-day of men in red shirts who took part in the stirring secenes and great achievment of 1876 is an inspiring object lesson to the youth of the city and State. It will turn their thoughts to the redemption of the State and what a glorious page in its history is furnished by the achievments of its redshirted heroes.—Columbia Record.

—We did not ourselves consider it news of momentous importance that when Mr. Hearst went into a St. Louis newspaper office the other day he was unfortunate enough to get into an altercation with a scion of the house of Pulitzer—an altercation that passed into an exchange of blows. The encounter was ended by right-minded (but somewhat officious) bystanders before anybody had been even a little bit hurt, and peace—as it is known in a St. Louis newspaper office—proceeded again to perform its customary duty of incubating the scene. No stars were disturbed in their orbits and seismographs no further away than Washington failed to record any terestrial tremors.—New York Times.

—Government by Supreme Court seems to be one of the ways we're drifting.—Baltimore Sun.

—The Corporation Commision is expected in a few days to make its order regarding telephone rates. It appears quite certain that it will fix the rates for both telephone rentals and also for long distance mesages. This matter has been specially called to its attention by the complaint filed by Secretary of State Grimes who has pressed this important matter with all his zeal and ability.

—Raleigh, Nov. 20.—To-day the car of the United States fish commission was here and brought several thousand black bass to be used in stocking ponds and streams in this vicinity, of these being a pond recently established by a club composed of a number of prominent men near Milburne, on the Neuse river, and some of the fish going to a pond on the estate of Dr. J. R. Rogers, between Milburne and Raleigh.

—Elkin, Nov. 20.—This section was visited with another heavy rain Sunday and Sunday night. The Yadkin river yesterday was 12 feet above common water leel and in many places is out over the bottom lands. Large quantities of driftwood, fodder, stacks, pumpkins and the like came down the river all day. The Elkin river here was said to be three feet higher than it has been in the past six years. A phone message from Wilkes yesterday stated that Mulberry creek is the highest it has ever been known by the present generation.

Feeding Silkworms.

The quality and quantity of silk produced by your silkworms will all depend on how you feed them. Too much food should not be given at once, but they should never be left entirely without at any time during the day or night. You must, therefore, watch carefully to get an idea of their appetite and provide accordingly, says Home Chat. Fresh mulberry leaves are the proper food for silkworms, but if at any time these are not procurable young lettuce leaves are the best substitute, but they are only a stop gap. Silkworms cannot live for a long period without their natural food.

A Rich Man.

Standards of prosperity vary in different parts of the country, but that of Captain Jack is purely local—to himself. The old man came out of his cottage door one morning and discovered some ne'er-do-well neighbors digging clams in the flat in front of his shore.

"Dear me, boys," he quavered in a weak, old voice, "don't dig my clams! There's Abel Wyman over there across the cove; he has ham for breakfast every morning in the year. Go over there and dig his clams, boys."

His Awful Mistake.

"Young man," said her father, "do you smoke cigarettes?"

"I should say not," declared the youth hastily. "I would consider it disgraceful to be seen with one of the vile things in my mouth. I think all cigarette smokers should be jailed. Why do you ask, sir?"

"Thought perhaps you could let me have one," said the old man pointedly, "I smoke 'em myself."—London Telegraph.

The Old Great Eastern.

The last days of the Great Eastern were certainly sad, considering the purpose for which she was designed and the great work she did in cable laying. For some time before she was broken up on the mud of the river Mersey, near Liverpool, she was on view as a show ship. One firm of Liverpool clothiers hired her for a season, and in addition to using her for its advertising purposes made use of her for catchpenny shows. In the large cable tank a circus was fitted up and performances given at so much a head, while other exhibitions of the Coney Island type were spread all over her deck.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; hich flowed so copiously from Mr. acket's lungs that death seemed ery near. He writes: "Severe bleedg from the lungs and a frightful ough had brought me at death's oor, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astounding result that after taing four bottles I was completely stored and as time has proven ermanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

A CHEMICAL TRICK.

Changing a White Pasteboard Cat Into a Striped Tiger.

When we happen to witness a phenomenon which seems to violate natural laws we are not likely to forget its cause if it be explained to us. The following experiment, which I devised for my students, helped them to understand as well as to remember some chemical data:

A white cat, made of flexible pasteboard and imprisoned in a glass jar, is shown to the audience. The lecturer announces that without opening the jar or even touching it he will cause the cat to undergo a zoological as well as a chemical transformation. He takes the support of the jar and pushes it forward in full view of the students. The change occurs almost instantaneously. The cat takes a rich orange color on which black transversal stripes rapidly paint themselves. The cat has become a tiger.

The whole transformation is produced by emanations of hydrogen sulphide, which is generated in the jar itself without any visible apparatus. The cat has been previously coated with a solution of chloride of antimony wherever the orange hue was to be produced and with a solution of basic acetate of lead wherever the black stripes were to appear. Both solutions are colorless. After the coated cat has been introduced in his glass cage a small piece of pasteboard is placed under the wooden support so as slightly to incline the jar forward. A few decigrams of pulverized sulphide of iron folded in a piece of blotting paper are deposited behind the cat on the elevated side of the bottom of the jar. Two or three cubic centimeters of diluted sulphuric acid are dropped with a pipette on the opposite side. When the performer wishes the transformation to take place he takes the wooden support and pushes it forward as if he wanted everybody to see better what is going to happen. By so doing he suppresses the slight inclination which kept the iron sulphide beyond the reach of the sulphuric acid. The gas is evolved, and the formation of the orange sulphide of antimony and black sulphide of lead takes place in a few seconds.—G. Michaud in Scientific American.

MOVING IN PORTUGAL.

It Takes About Fifteen Women and Five Men For One Job.

Moving day in Portugal is a greater time of trouble than it is even in this country. A traveler tells about it: "Vans are unknown, the only means of wheeled transport being rough carts drawn by bullocks, these in turn proving so ruinous to furniture that only kitchen utensils, iron stoves, bedsteads and other unspoilable articles are sent by them. For the rest, the goods are carried often for many miles by women, only the heaviest things being taken by men, of whom four are employed to take pianos, wardrobes and other heavy furniture. They carry these on poles laid across their shoulders, to which they are tied by scarfs passing under the opposite arm. All lighter goods are taken by the women on their heads. Six dining room chairs form an ordinary load for one woman.

"She carries these by placing one on her head, to which chair the remaining five are tied, forming a sort of cage around her. Previous to starting the woman gives herself a shake, the chairs vibrate around her, and, with her hands on her hips, she starts off at a contented jog trot, covering six miles perhaps in an hour and a half and considering herself fairly and sufficiently well paid with 12 cents or 16 cents for the return journey there and back again for a fresh load. For long distances only two journeys are made in the day.

"The women are nearly always barefooted, except on the coldest days in winter, when they may perhaps wear sabots, but they often wear as many as fourteen or fifteen much gathered petticoats of all colors and materials tied with a sash round the waist, the bunch thus formed upon the hips making a rest for the hands. All the china and glass are carried in big round baskets on the head and very rarely supported by the hand. About fifteen or sixteen women are generally employed in an ordinary move and four or five men."—Chicago News.

The Whale's Mouth.

The whale's mouth is the largest institution of the kind in the animal kingdom, being capable of containing over two hogsheads of water. The whale's throat, however, is so small that an orange would scarcely pass through it, and he lives on the minute sea animals contained in the water. Drawing in a large quantity, he strains it through his whalebone sieve, retaining the animal organisms it contains and throwing out the water through circular holes in his head. Whales engaged in feeding are said by whalers to be "spouting."

Reason Enough.

Benevolent Old Gentleman (rescuing one small boy from the pummeling of two others)—What are you hurting this boy for?

"Because he made so many mistakes in his arithmetic this morning."

"But what business was that of yours?"

"Why, he let us copy our answers from his."

A Strike.

Mrs. Nulywed—You don't love me any more; I know you don't! Nulywed—But, my dear, you're mistaken. I adore you. Mrs. Nulywed—No; you don't. No man could love a woman so badly dressed as I am!—Paris Rire.

Calmness under contradiction is demonstrative of great stupidity or strong intellect.—Zimmermann.

THE BEN GREET PLAYERS.

At Academy of Music To-night in "The Merchant of Venice."

Seats are now on sale for the production of "The Merchant of Venice" by the Ben Greet Company of Players at the Academy of Music to-night under the auspices of the North Carolina Sorosis for the benefit of the public library.

The object of the Ben Greet players in giving the plays of Shakespeare in what—for lack of a better term—is called the Elizabethan manner is not to demonstrate how the works were given during the poet's lifetime, but to act them, as far as possible, as they were written, as Shakespeare intended them to be acted, and to give the complete text of the plays.

Some 500 performances of Shakespeare's plays have been given in this manner in America by the company, and the pronounced success of the tour of the past season indicated a greatly increased desire on the part of the public as well as students, to see Shakespeare's plays for their own sake. In addition to the continued interest evinced by the leading colleges co-operation was recived from the New York City Board of Education, the Boston School Committee, the Philadelphia Teachers' Association, and similar organizations who acknowledged the educational value and scope of the presentations in a manner not heretofore shown. This was particularly gratifying, since by these means the students of the schools were brought into closer touch with this conception of Shakespeare and it is the manager's wish to establish these performances on a permanent basis of co-operation with the schools as well as the universities of the country.

"THE LITTLE GRAY LADY."

Channing Pollock's Play at Academy of Music To-morrow Night.

Miss Helen Grantly in Channing Pollock's play "The Little Gray Lady," will be the offering at the Academy of Music to-morrow night and seats for the production go on sale at Plummer's this morning. Of Miss Grantley's appearnce in Norfolk last week the Landmark, of that city says:

"Helen Grantley in Channing Pollock's play entitled "The Little Gray Lady," scored a hit at the Academy of Music last night.

"Miss Grantley, always good in whatever she attempts, was exceptionally clever last night in the role of Anna Gray.

"The play is a simple story of simple folk, is of a peculiar charm, and one which goes straight to the heart, and the manner in which it was presented by Miss Grantley and her company last night was clever to a fault.

"The reception to Miss Grantley was warm and generous, the gifted actress receiving several curtain calls."

Legislature established the Criminal Court of New Hanover county and Judge Meares was called to preside over that important branch of the courts of the State. He held that position until the adoption of the new constitution in 1868. The new constitution did not provide for a criminal court and his office was terminated. He again turned to the practice of law and continued his career until again called to the bench by the re-establishment of the criminal court, serving with conspicuous ability for eight years. In 1865 the Legislature created the criminal circuit, composed of Mecklenburg and New Hanover counties, and he presided over that for twelve years. In 1895 the court was abolished but the courts held that the act was void and Judge Meares retained the position until the following year when the Fusionists and Republicans made the district vacant. Judge Mears served in the meantime by the appointment of Governor Carr, of North Carolina. Judge Meares resigned the position before the act went into effect and retired to private life with a consciousness of duty well performed for the period of about 25 years. His record as a judge was unblemished and he served the district and State with conspicuous dignity and ability.

He was married in 1850 to Miss Ann Elizabeth, the daughter of Dr. Thomas H. Write, of Wilmington, N. Thomas H. Wright, of Wilmington, N. Wright, who was a native of Wilmington. Dr. Wright, her father, was one of the leading financiers of the State, president of the old Bank of Cape Fear and a citizen of distinguished position, and his daughter, the wife of Judge Meares, was a lady of rare personal attractions, intelligence, refinement and gentle Christian character. Mrs. Meares died several years ago. The surviving children of this union are Mrs. Mary Allen Short, wife of Mr. H. B. Short, of Lake Waccanaw, N. C.; Mrs. Ann Eliza Baltzer, wife of Mr. E. V. Baltzer, now residing in Savannah, Ga.; Mr. Oliver P. Meares, Jr., who resides in Baconton, Ga., and Miss Catherine G. Meares, who has been in these latter years his constant and devoted companion. All members of the family were with Judge Meares when he died except Mrs. Baltzer, who found it impossible to leave Savannah, on account of sickness of a little son, and Mr. O. P. Meares, Jr., who arrived last night. Mr. Walker Meares, a brother of the deceased, arrived Tuesday from Hartsville, S. C.

The funeral services of Judge Meares will be conducted this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from St. James' Episcopal church and the interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

THE ANSON LYNCHERS.

Supreme Court Renders Decision—The Seaboard Changes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21.—The Supreme Court reverses the lower court in State vs. Lewis from Union county, so that it will be necessary now for Zeke Lewis to stand trial in Union county for participation in the lynching of J. V. Johnson of Wadesboro on May 28 last. The court holds that the force and effect of the statute against Lynching Laws of 1893 is not impaired by being split up in sections under appropriate headings in the revisal, and that authority to try the case in Union is ample and it was an error to quash the bill at the former trial in either county.

FLOODS SWEEPING TENNESSEE.

Rivers Very High and Damage to Railroads Enormous.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 21.—The flood situation as regards the railroads was somewhat improved to-day in the case of one road, the Southern, which resumed its traffic into Memphis, thus relieving the 'Frisco of the burden of handling the Southern traffic. Conditions, however, as far as the Illinois Central and the Nashville, Chatanooga & St. Louis railroads are concerned, show no improvement.

The Louisville & Nashville has had no washouts, but the heavy rains have delayed a number of their passenger trains. The Nashille & Chatanooga road is out of business entirely, but hope to resume before night. The financial loss to the railroads during the last four days has been heavy.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 21.—The Tennesee river at this point is rising very rapidly and the danger line of 33 feet will probably be reached in a few hours. This is the highest stage in five years.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Wilmington Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when your kidneys are sick. Well kidneys secrete a clear amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull, heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of coming dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Wilmington proof:

R. A. Biddle, clerk at 19 Market street, residing at 606 Castle street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills myself for kidney trouble and my wife, who also suffered from back ache, also used them. I never knew anything to act so quickly. I have suffered quite a long time with my back and kidneys. The kidney secretions were very dark and full of sediment. My wife also complained of her back, and when we read of Doan's Kidney Pills in our newspapers I went to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box. We used them with the best of results. In my case the kidney secretions cleared up and the pains left my back. We have neither of us complained since taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and it is with pleasure that I recommend them at every opportunity."

DEAD WATER.

Effect of This Queer Marine Phenomenon Upon a Ship's Speed.

One of the most curious marine phenomena known to seamen is that called by Norwegian sailors "dead water," which, without any visible cause, makes a vessel lose her speed and refuse to answer her helm. The sailor's only definite knowledge of its origin is that it exists solely where there is a surface layer of fresh water resting upon the salt waters of the sea. Several explanations have been advanced by the captains of ships of the effect of dead water, the commonest of which is that the two water layers move in different directions. The true explanation, however, recently offered by Swedish navigators and verified by mathematical calculation and direct experiment, is that in addition to the "resistance waves" at the surface the vessel creates a second line of subaqueous waves between the two strata of water.

The experiment carried out to demonstrate the truth of this theory was an exceedingly pretty one. A large plate glass tank was first mounted on a wooden frame. The tank was then filled to a certain depth with salt water, and a layer of fresh water was carefully poured on to the surface, so that two separate water layers were obtained.

The salt water was blackened with liquid Chinese ink before the water layers were prepared, and in this way the different layers were made clearly visible. A boat model was then towed along the tank and a silhouette of the waves produced was obtained by placing a white screen at a short distance behind the tank. The waves were also photographed by flashlight, and the results showed conclusively that waves actually were set up at the boundary line between the two liquids.

Further experiments were made to verify the sudden loss of speed due to dead water. The boat model was drawn across the tank and the towing string suddenly slackened when the boat was about halfway across. In cases where the tank contained salt water only the boat stopped gradually, moving some boat lengths after the towing string had been slackened. When the tank contained a layer of fresh water resting on salt water, on the other hand, the boat slackened speed quite suddenly and moved only a very short distance.

These experiments, carried out on a small scale, prove conclusively that the difficulties encountered within a dead water zone are really due to the resistance experienced by the vessel in generating invisible waves at the fresh water salt water boundary, although in some particular cases the influence of undercurrents must also doubtless be taken into account.—New York Herald.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The most acceptable form of politeness is cleanliness.

Because you say you intend to do a thing it isn't done.

About all some men are good for is to "second the motion."

You may think you are entertaining, but there are people dodging you all the time.

The first insurance against trouble that children learn about is to get a promise from mother that she will not tell father.—Atchison Globe.

On Their Way.

During a newspaper men's convention, a number of journalists were one afternoon talking of the tricks of "the faithless types," when Henry Watterson said:

"While I've heard of a great many funny typographical breaks in my time, about the oddest and most humorous transposition of the types that ever came within my observation was that in a New York paper some years ago. That sheet used to print its shipping news on the same page with the obituaries. Imagine the glee with which its readers found the captions exchanged one morning, whereby a long list of respectable names were set forth under the marine head, 'Passed Through Hell Gate Yesterday.'"—Harper's Weekly.

Men Have Not Degenerated.

It is common to hear of the giant people who lived in the old days, yet it is decidedly uncommon to find proof that the average ancient was any larger or more powerfully built than the average person of the present day. The Egyptian mummies show these people to have been of medium size. The remains taken from the catacombs do not differ in size from the people of the present, while the armor which was worn by the warriors of the long ago fit as readily the forms of people who are not at all gigantic or at least extraordinarily above the average either in girth or stature. There were great men in the old days, but as great still obtain in this twentieth century.

—A big shake-up in the heads of the Seaboard Air Line Railway is predicted for the first of the year, according to rumors in railroad circles. While no difinite reports have gained circulation, and no names have been mentioned, it is said that a number of high officials are included in the list of changes. It is said that the changes will be made on account of the new policy of the Seaboard Air Line which was evidenced in the appointment of W. A. Garret as vice president and general manager. This official was formally connected with the Queen & Crescent company and his office is a new place with the railroad. The changes which has been rumored, it is said, will take effece the latter part of December or the first of the year.

(Charlotte Observer)

—Sheriff Wallace and 'Squire J. P. Hunter, of this county, saw the dead body of the Asheville negro desperado, who is still unknown to the officers. The former is not positive that the corpse is not that of Will Harris, while 'Squire Hunter is positively certain that it is not that of his old field hand. In talking with an Observer man, Sheriff Wallace said that the ear marks of the Mecklenburg outlaw are there, but the face it so disfigured that it would be difficult to identify the body. 'Squire Hunter said that the mouth was too large; the color, the size, height and general appearance of the dead man are not unlike those of Harris. The identity of the negro may remain a mystery. The average darkey would not tell who he was, if he knew, for fear that something might befall him. The negro is superstitious and his dread of returning spirits outweighs his respect for or fear of law.

(Charlotte Observer)

—"Captain Mark W. Wiliams, commander of the Charlotte Artillery, First Battery North Carolina Field Artillery, has received a letter from State Adjutant General T. R. Robertson stating that Governor Glenn has urged the War Department to hurry the equipment for the Charlotte organization and that it may be expected very shortly. According to Captain Williams, the new equipment will be worth about $40,000. It will consist of four 3-inch breech-loading guns, four limbers, two caissons, 10 sets of artillery harness, with all accoutrements, 41 army revolvers, holsters etc, 21 new saddles, bridles blankets, etc. The supplies will include extra wheels for the gun carriages and limbers, canvasses, grease, oil, extra parts to the mechanism of the guns, etc. The equipment will be exactly the same as that of a battery of light artillery in the regular service. The Gatling guns which make up the equipment of the battery at present will either be kept by the company to use in caes of a riot, or will be divided among the three regiments of Infantry in the State."

THE COTTON MARKET.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

New York, Nov., 21.—The cotton market was active today and had a strong advance following the census report, with prices making a new high level for the bull movement. The market closed steady at a net advance of 20 to 26 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 350,000 bales. The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points in response to lower cables but prices almost immediately rallied on covering of shorts and buying by spot people which was encouraged by the reports of rainy weather from the central belt, continued firmness in the Southern spot markets, and the light estimates for tomorrow's receipts at Houston. The market worked up to a net advance of about 9 to 10 points on this demand, then reacted slightly but showed a generally steady undertone with fluctuations narrow and irregular until the census report was published showing 8,531,486 bales ginned to November 14, against 7,501,180 last year and 9,786,646 bales two years ago. This report was followed by a strong advance on local and Southern bull support, and the upturn caught some stop loss orders on the short side, carrying January to 10.50 and March to 10.66 or about 32 to 34 points net higher. The close was off from the best under realizing but very steady.

Estimated receipts cotton at the ports today 68,445 bales against 60,974 last week and 57,974 last year. For the week 410,000 against 412,648 last week and 391,182 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 24,095 bales against 18,233 last year and at Houston 30,493 bales against 14,096 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady 10 points advance; middling uplands 11.10; middling gulf 11.35; sales 617 bales. Futures closed very steady Prices follow:

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Try Now the Ways of Yore and See How You Like Them.

Good old times, says the San Antonio Light, are a delusion and a snare, and the man who sighs for them has little conception of what they were. Return to them, would you? Then rise on a cold morning and wash at the pump, pull on a pair of rawhide boots that rival a tin can in stiffness, pull on a woolen shirt over your back and sit down to a bare meal with your three legged stool dancing around on a split slab floor, eat corn pone and bacon for a steady diet and labor fourteen hours out of twenty-four. Go without a daily paper, a fly screen, a mosquito bar, a spring mattress, a kerosene lamp, geehaw your oxen to market and sit on the floor of an ox cart as you wend your way to church or a frolic. Parch corn and peas for coffee and sassafras for tea and see how you like it.

The old days are looked backward to affectionately, says the Galveston News, because they were the days of our youth, of bounding blood and supple joints, the days of hope and the days of love and laughter and song. The days of the present will be the good old days of the coming generation and will be regarded by our successors as rather crude in customs and harsh in many ways, yet withal not to be despised. The progressives of our age are the mossbacks of later eras. Fifty years hence we will be accounted as slow and immature as we now regard those of half a century ago.

CHIRSCHMUS.

A Swiss Dainty That Is Made of Preserved Cherries.

Last summer I ate genuine Swiss chirschmus twenty years old. It tasted like a concentration of all the richness and sweetness of the most perfect cherries. In appearance it was a purplish black mass. Age had not impaired it in the least.

Upon inquiry I learned how this cherry concoction, with its wonderful preserving quality, is made. The cherries used must be perfect—very large, ripe, juicy black ones and, above all, very sweet.

The juice of them pressed out and strained through a bag is put in a large preserving kettle, at the bottom of which is placed a piece of smoked pork fastened to a block of wood. The wood serves as a weight to keep the fat down and prevent the juice from burning as it thickens.

The cherry juice is boiled for about twenty-four hours without sugar, but stirred from time to time until it becomes a mass of sweetness so firm and thick that it would not fall if the kettle were inverted.

That is all, a simple process, but the result is delicious. This chirschmus is in general use in Switzerland with the "susse anke" (sweet butter) and bread.—London Ladies' World.

IT'S IN THE DRAFT.
The secret of the fuel-saving qualities of this Buck's hot blast heater lies in the draft construction. It is so made as to allow large quantities of heated air to pass over the upper surface of the burning coal, thus supplying oxygen to the rising gasses, which are then converted into heating power.
Simple, isn't it? And yet it's new principle in stove building—not to be found elsewhere.

NEGRO TROOPS MUST SUFFER

All Members of Three Companies Acted in Manner Unworthy of Soldiers.

SOME FIRED UPON CITIZENS

Used Guns of Army to Attack People of Brownsville—To a Man, Negro Soldiers Refused to Implicate Guilty.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 21.—The War Department issued the following statement to-day concerning the negro troops ordered dismissed at Fort Reno:

"In the matter of the order discharging the enlisted men of three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, issued by the President, application was presented to the Secretary of War by a number of persons on which the action was taken. The Secretary telegraphed the President of the application and delayed the proceedings of the discharge until the President could indicate his wishes. The Secretary was in the meantime called out of town. No answer was received from the President. The Secretary on his return did not feel justified in further delaying the execution of the order of discharge, especially in view of the fact that the Secretary then learned that the President had fully and exhaustively considered the arguments against the order of the persons who now applied for a rehearing. Accordingly the Secretary directed yesterday, (Tuesday) that the proceedings for discharge be continued without delay."

The investigation of the conduct of negro troops of Companies B. C. and D of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, as reported upon by Maj. Blocksom, inspector general, Department Lieut. Col. Lovering, Fourth Infantry; Acting Inspector Gen. and Brig. Gen. Garlington, inspector general of the army, was made public at the War Department to-day in a volume entitled "The Affray at Brownsville, Texas."

Maj. Blocksom declares that the affair was preconcerted and both he and Gen. Garlington exonerate the officers from blame. Gen. Garlington says that the three companies had entered into a compact to give no information about the affair. Secretary Taft aid to-day that no steps will be taken to make a further investigation of the conduct of the officers.

In his summary of the reports made by the other officers and of his own efforts to discover the guilty soldiers, Brig. Gen. Garlington declares that every method of getting evidence concerning the shooting was exhausted. All the men of the three companies were talked to individually on different occasions, he says, and the dire consequences of their failure to give up the guilty soldiers were pointed out. All the soldiers avoided the questions and even refused to discuss the events at Brownsville, which were known to have enraged the negroes before the riot.

"The secretive nature of the race, where crimes are charged to members of their color, is well known," Gen. Garlington said. "Under such circumstances self protection or self interest is the only lever by which the casket of their minds can be pried open. Acting upon this principle, the history and record of the regiment to which they belong, the part played by these old soldiers in this record were pointed out and enlarged upon. The odium and disgrace to the battalion and its individual members by this crime were indicated. The future effect upon the individuals and upon the battalion as a whole was referred to; and finally the concern of the President of the United States in the matter, his desire and the desire of the War Department to separate the innocent from the guilty were explained, but without effect."

Continuing Gen. Garlington's report says: "No absolutely accurate verification of the rifles and men of the battalion was made on the night of August 13 in time to account for the rifles and men at the beginning of the firing or immediately upon its conclusion. The failure is explained as follows:

"The commanding officer and his associates, when the alarm was sounded, and they heard the firing, assumed that it came from the city of Brownsville and that the guns were in the hands of civilians; in other words that the garrison was being fired into from the outside. It does not appear to have occurred to any of them that certain enlisted men of the Twenty-fifth Infantry had possession of the arms and were committing the crime of firing into the houses and upon the citizens of Brownsville, until the mayor of the city came to the garrison and informed the commanding officer, Maj. Penrose that one man had been killed and another wounded by his soldiers."

Maj. Blocksom in his report recommended that if satisfactory evidence concerning the identity of the criminals who "shot up" Brownsville, did not come from members of the battalion, all enlisted men of the three companies present on the night of August 13 be discharged from the service and debarred from re-enlistment in the army, navy or marine corps. Major Blocksom regards it particularly unfortunate for the reputation of the battalion that the officers did not discover a single clue to the terrible "preconcerted crime" in the investigation that was conducted by the commanders of the colored forces.

Brig. Gen. McCasky, commanding the department of Texas, in a dispatch to the War Department explains the discharge of 25 members of the Twenty-fifth Infantry on Monday after Secretary Taft had ordered the temporary suspension of the soldiers' dismissal by stating that the dispatch sent to Fort Reno announcing Secretary Taft's action did not reach that post until noon on Monday, which was after the men had been discharged.

No Orders to Discharge Troops.

Oklahoma, Okla., Nov., 21.—Major Clark at Fort Reno today said: "We have received no word to proceed with the discharge of the colored troops, and none has been discharged today. We will not proceed until ordered to do so from Washington.

Fast mail No. 2 northbound on the Mobile and Ohio railroad while on a siding at Dwight, Ala., fifty miles north of Mobile, Tuesday night, was run into by the south fast mail. Both engines and trains were badly damaged. Twenty-five persons were slightly injured. The wreck is said to have been caused by a flagman becoming confused in his orders and opened the switch ahead of the northbound train throwing the southbound train on the siding.

WOMAN FIEND IN NEW YORK

OWN DANGHTERS HORRIFIED

Two Furnished Revolting Evidence and Refused to Call Her Mother—Cast Away One of Her Own Children.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov., 21.—The spectacle of two women denouncing as a murderess the woman who brought them into the world but whom they refused to call mother, was witnessed in the office of the District Attorney today. The women are, Mrs. Marie Schoch, recently a resident of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Wilhelmia Ihrig, of this city. The mother whom they accused is Mrs. Wilhelmina Eckhardt who was arreste by representatives of the county medical society yesterday on a charge of having performed a criminal operation. The arrest was made upon information furnished the society by the daughters and the two younger women appeared voluntarily at the district attorney's office today to emplify the testimony they had already given against their mother.

Both Mrs. Schoch and Mrs. Ihrig declared that they had seen Mrs. Eckhardt kill hour old infants and dispose of the bodies by burning them in her kitchen stove. Mrs. Ihrig declared also that her mother had quarreled with her because she refused to assist in burning the bodies of the babies.

Mr. Schoch told the district attorney that when she was three days old her mother wrapped her in a bundle of rags and cast her into the street. She was rescued by her grandmother who reared her and with whom she remained until she became a woman.

When she came to this country she said she found her mother conducting a disorderly house and she declared that her mother sought to have her become an inmate of the place. She refused. The first she knew of her mother's present occupation, she said, was when Mrs. Eckhardt's little adopted son made a discovery in the house which led to Mrs. Eskardt's arrest. When she learned of the discovery made by the little boy Mrs. Schoch said she went to her mother about it and she declares Mrs. Eckhardt proposed that they go into partnership. This she did after consulting with representatives of the medical society and with a view of causing Mrs. Eckhardt's arrest. It was while occupying this position in her mother's house, she said, that she procured the evidence which resulted in Mrs. Eckhardt's arrest.

Mrs. Ihrig came here four months ago from Regensburg, Germany. She testified that she lived with her mother after coming here and that in August last she saw her mother burn the bodies of infants.

MR. ROOSEVELT IN PORTO RICO

Received Enthusiastiocn Ovation From People of Our West Indian Colony

WAY STREWN WITH FLOWERS

Men Cheered and Shouted Vivas—President Made Speech Promising Porto Ricans Citizenship—Will Return Tuesday.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

San Juan, P. R., Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt arrived here thi morning from Colon on board the battleship Louisiana. He was visited on board the vessel by Gov. Winthrop, who extended a welcome to the island. The President at once came ashore and was greeted at the pier by Mayor Openheirmer of San Juan, and a delegation of prominent officials and citizens. The town, which was profusely decorated in the President's honor, was crowded with people from the surrounding country eager to greet Mr. Roosevelt.

As the President stepped ashore the crowd cheered him crying "Viva El Presidente." When the greetings were over the President accompanied by Gov. Winthrop, was driven to the city hall, Mrs. Winthrop and Mrs. Roosevelt following. The President was kept busy acknowledging cheers all along the two mile line of march from the landing place to the principal plaza of the town. At the entrance to the plaza a huge arch had been erected from which little girls threw flowers to both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

At the city hall an address of welcome was read to the President. He delivered his reply from the balcony of the building, addressing the largest crowd that had ever assembled in San Juan. The President said in part:

"I shall continue to use every effort to secure citizenship for Porto Rico. I am confident that this will come in the end and all that I can personally do to hasten the day I will do. My efforts will be unceasing to help you along the path of true self-government, which must have for its basis a union of order, liberty, jutisce and honor."

In conclusion the President said: "I salute you from my heart as fellow citizens."

The reference to citizenship brought out enthusiastic applause from the people. Before leaving San Juan, the President was driven to the Roosevelt high school. Here several hundred school children had been assembled and sang "America" as the President drove up. The cornerstone of the school was laid in April 1903 by the President's daughter, now Mrs. Longworth. The President was greatly pleased with his reception at the school and made a short address. He was showered with flowers by the children as he drove away.

The Presidential party left Ponce at half past 10 for the run to San Juan over the famous military road, 11 automobiles conveying the party.

Passing through the Caguas and the Cayey tobacco district, where American capital has worked a wonderful development, the President was greatly impresed with the fertility and flourishing condition of the plantations. At Caguas Mrs. Roosevelt was showered with flowers and received many preesnts.

At Rio Piedras, the last town before reaching San Juan, President Roosevelt received an enthusiastic reception from the school children and the pupils and teachers of the Porto Rico normal school. To them he spoke facetiously about college life and outdoor sports.

Arriving at the original entrance to the city of San Juan, where formerly stood the old city hall and gate a huge arch had been erected by the city, and her mayor to-day and the city officials extended their welcome to the President.

He responded in a brief speech and was then escorted by the Porto Rico Provisional Regiment to the Governor's palace. The city was elaborately decorated, every American flag available being used to best advantage. President Roosevelt was in a happy mood and bowed and waved his hands to the cheering throngs.

He received a particularly warm reception as he passed The Casino, the exclusive Spanish club.

Will be Home Tuesday.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A cablegram was received at the White House today from Ponce, Porto Rico, stating that the President will remain in San Juan to-night and return to-morrow morning to Ponce where he will reembark. He will probably reach Washington Monday evening or Tuesday morning. The message also stated that the President and party had a very good trip across from Panama.

Self-Government For Porto Rico.

Minneapolis, Nov. 21.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, was to-day instructed to send a telegram in the name of the Federation to Preisdent Roosevelt at Porto Rico, asking him to investigate conditions on the island with a view to giving the islanders self-government and to better the labor conditions on the island. Mr. Gompers dictated the telegram and sent it forthwith. The text of the message follows:

"President Roosevelt, San Juan,
" Porto, Rico.

"American Federation of Labor Convention urges you to give consideration, however briefly, while in Porto Rico, to workers' aspirations for improved conditions, local self-government and citizenship.

"(Signed) SAMUEL GOMPERS."

A resolution demanding that Congress recognize the people of Porto Rico as American citizens and that they ve bested with all the rights as such, was adopted.

NO SLAUGHTERING ON SUNDAY.

Secretary Wilson Wants Meat Inspectors to Have Day's Rest.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov., 21.—"I want the two thousand meat inspectors employed by the Department of Agriculture and located in one thousand packing and slaughter houses, to have one day's rest in seven if this can be accomplished under a proper administration of the law and will meet the necessities of the public," said Secretary Wilson today in discussing directions which he has given to the Department inspectors to report to him on the proposition to restrict inspections to six days of the week.

"Without regard to the question of whether they want to go to church on Sunday, I think it is but fair that the inspectors be allowed to rest on Sunday if arrangements can be made for all necessary inspections on week days," the Secretary added.

The Secretary says complaints have reached the Department from various cities, some of them from New York clergymen, against the practice of slaughtering cattle on Sunday which necessitates the presence of the inspectors at these places. The meat inspection law contains no inhibition against this practice and impliedly the supervision required makes it incumbent on the Department to have its men ready for inspection work on Sunday if it is the practice of the packers to ship any of their products in interstate or foreign commerce.

Secretary Wilson is hopeful that some feasible plan will be evolved which will bring about the deisred result.

WILL BREAK UP SHANGHAIING.

Captains and Crews of Chesapeake Dredge Boats Have Fled.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Nov., 21.—The prosecutions now being conducted by the government under the new Federal anti-shanghaiing laws to bring about a stop to peonage aboard oyster dredges in lower Chesapeake Bay have resulted in many of the extensive bay dredgers being compelled to quiut business. Deputy United States Marshall Miller returning today from Tangier Island in the Chesapeake Bay, where he spent several days summoning witnesses for the trial in the United States court here tomorrow of Captain Andrew A Crockett, indicted for cruelties to his crew on the dredge James A. Whiting, reported that the great majority of the oyster operators learning the determined attitude of the government have paid off their crews who have left the dredges, there being only eight vessels at work at the present time out of fifty.
